Reforestation plan

A reforestation plan was carried out in the vicinity of the farm, in an area destined for reforestation through the planting of seedlings of Avicennia germinans (Curumo or black mangrove). For the preparation of the land where this plan has been implemented, channels have been installed that connect the drainage channel of the farm and the access to the tide to the land to be reforested. The planting of the seedlings was carried out on September 20, 2018.
